

We can protect and secure your existing email system.

AltuGuard™ email hosting will filter out all messaging threats including spam and viruses before they reach your network.

We route inbound and outbound email through external data centers while you administer more robust security policies that keep your organization secure compliant.

Simplify email retention with a central archive
-- so your email stays safe and secure.

- Stop spam, viruses, phishing, denial of service (DoS), directory harvest attacks (DHA), and other attacks.
- Ensure no delays, message loss or disruptions to email service with patented real-time, pass-through architecture.
- Allow end users to manage their own spam in an efficient manner.
- Create content-based policies for inbound and outbound traffic
- Spooling guarantees email arrives even if your email servers go down.
- Encrypt domain-to-domain messaging using SSL or TLS protocols.
- Enable directory synchronization with your LDAP user data to ensure new users are automatically provisioned.
- 99.999% availability for message processing & capacity to handle billions of transactions

Deploy rapidly and maintain effortlessly:

- Implement quickly, with no hardware or software to install.
- Performance is monitored 24/7 and services are SAS 70 audited.
- Updates are released automatically with no installation effort.

Manage email retention with a centralized, searchable archive so administrators and users can locate email quickly.

- Capture and index all company email and attachments in a centralized repository.
- Store email in redundant and secure data centers, creating a reliable off-site backup.
- Search archives using date range, sender, recipient, subject, content and more.
- Place messages on hold to extend retention beyond assigned policies
- Export search results to PST or MBOX format
- Integrated spam and virus filtering included
